P R E F A C E

The search for nineteenth century American Catholic serial publications was begun in 1951 and continued to 1967-1968, resulting in the discovery of 1,392 newspapers or magazines, located in 364 places, described on 2,357 pages of text.

The idea for this research came from the late Eugene P. Willging, former Director of Libraries, Catholic University of America. His original thought was to make a collection of titles similar to that of the 1893 list made by the Rev. Thomas C. Middleton, O.S.A. of Villanova College, Pa. (see Records of the American Catholic Historical Society of Philadelphia, v.14, pp. 221-241). Mr. Willging had planned to include with his title list the geographic location, language, character, frequency and dates of these publications.

Our first findings, not listed in Middleton, furnished us with so many interesting details that it was decided to write for each serial publication a more or less complete "history". This story we wanted also to continue for the lifetime of the publication into the 20th century, if possible up-to-date 1966+.

We finished articles* according to the States with their Catholic *one of those articles treated the 65 Polish Catholic serials, published in the U.S.; it is printed in three parts in the Polish American Studies. St. Mary's College, Orchard Lake, Mich. in v.XII, 3-4 (1955), v.XIII, 1-2 (1956) and in v.XIII, 3-4 (1956).

serial items which were printed in the Records of the ACHS, Philadelphia from 1954-63. The Records did not print "Tables", which we liked to have given nor were they able to take longer articles either. Therefore a "Second Series" was published by the Catholic University of America Press between 1959 and 67/8 (see following a "Guide to the States" and where to find them). This second Series was followed afterwards by a "First Series" (1967) in the same way, containing all articles of the Records brought up-to-date also with tables (1966).

XV: A Statistical Analysis 1968

These unforeseen changes, the many open questions in the work done, the later additions and certainly many mistakes in details may perhaps be excused by the following explanations. The search was done by two persons, Mr. Willging and myself, Mrs. Hatzfeld, as his aid, not by a team with means to travel, to visit more libraries, archives etc. to xerox and microfilm original items or documents. Certainly we gathered reference books around us. For many months I had a desk and stack permit in the Library of Congress, without which this work could not have been done, as it was necessary to consult book references, rather than rely solely on the Library's catalogues. Especially valuable were the (almost) complete sets of Ayer's and Rowell's Annuals Listing all serials of the U.S. Furthermore, we wrote about 800 letters, one half of which were answered, with a small number only giving real information, reliable and sufficient facts. We were fortunate to get very informative letters about Louisiana, Tennessee, Wisconsin, partly also about Vermont and Buffalo. The names of all those who contributed information by letter are given under the names i.e. of their states, places and publications.

We visited other libraries, Mr. Willging went especially to St. Louis' Catholic Central Verein of America and to Dubuque, Iowa, to the library of the Loyola College (IaDuC). I myself worked first in Washington's Catholic University (DCU), in Georgetown University (DGU), in smaller libraries of Religious Study Houses, also in the Main Public Library(DWP). The Library of Congress (DLC), mentioned already , was used regularly during all those years. In Maryland we consulted the Enoch Pratt Library, Baltimore (MdBE) and the one of St. Joseph's College, Emmitsburg (ME StJ.).

For some weeks in different years I found rich material in New York City's Public Library (NN) and still more in the Historical Society, N.Y.(N or NNHi) which owns a part of the Rowell Collection newspapers; I found much Irish material in the American Irish Historical Society (NNAI). In New York State I stopped to check the Buffalo Public Library (NBu) on the way to Toronto, where the University had new material for me. Different trips brought me to St. Charles Seminary, Overbrook-Philadelphia. Here I was allowed to see everything of the very rich collection of the American Catholic Historical Society of Philadelphia which is arranged there in good order (indicated by the abbreviations PPACHi or PPCHi). The Free Library, Philadelphia (PP) and the Villanova College (PV) also showed me their holdings.

Many things were found in Chicago: 10 items in the Chicago Historical Society (ICHi) with another Part of the Rowell Collection; some information in the Public Library (IC); 13 newspapers in the Mid West Interlibrary Center (ICMILC); quite some details in the helpful Newberry Library (ICN) and in the one of Rosary College, River Forest (IRiwR), also in some parishes: parish-papers.

Indiana's Notre Dame University (InNd) let me see their own serials. In Massachusetts some libraries helped me much: the Boston Public Library (MB), the College Library of Harvard University (MH), the American Antiquarian Society Library (MWA) with another Part of the Rowell Collection at Worcester and there also the Holy Cross College Library (MWH), where I saw Rev. Wm. L. Lucey (often quoted) as librarian.

I saw many originals in St. John's College (MnCs), Collegeville, Minn., the City Directories in the Public Library (MnS), St. Paul, original newspapers in the Historical Society of Minnesota (MnHi), also originals in the College of St. Benedict, St. Joseph, Minn. (StjoS). Madison's University of Wisconsin (WU) and the State Historical Society (WHi) were helpful, but less so the Public Library (WM) in Milwaukee, [with too strict rules]; enormously important especially for German material was the library of St. Francis Seminary, there.

When searching for original papers we were told on different occasions: "Just last year we threw all this stuff away", or the papers were not in folders, falling to pieces, or could not be found in some basement or attic. People, who may have been able to have seen or to remember 19th century papers, were either too old to remember exactly or we found out they had just passed away. We began our search 30 years too late.

Other sources for information we found in history books, Catholic and non-Catholic. Sometimes an editor or contributor of a Catholic paper was named, a paper quoted with an exact date, even a part of its history given. Such sources we mentioned after each story of a publication, the important ones also in the "Special" or "General" Bibliography with each State, or each "Part" of our work.

To our work as a "reference" publications, I (-because Mr. Willging died in Sept. 1965-) add with this last volume: Part 15, a Statistical Analysis of the entire material (see the Table of Contents for titles, English or Foreign, places, frequency, type or degree of Catholicity*

*We originated three degrees for our special purpose:

"Catholic by purpose": 1 (published officially:la;

by Orders: lb

unofficially by priests or laymen: lc)

"Catholic by attitude" having another purpose: 2

"Catholic by national tradition" chiefly for foreign serials written mainly for patriotic aims: 3 of the newspapers or periodical. The user of the Chronological Table including all serials we found, has to go back to the Alphabetical Table for more details; if they are not enough then further to the "histories".

Let us hope that librarians, archivists and church historians may find our results sometimes useful. Perhaps even private researchers may find some suggestions involving their city, or an "editor-grandfather".

THEIR HISTORIES:

- (1) belongs to Part III: Illinois:Chicago
CHICAGO TRUE PRESS, THE (early in Ag 1860-?)

The following is an announcement of that "Catholic:lc", weekly newspaper, reviewed on Ag 25 1860 by the Louisville(Ky) Guardian:

"To Chicago a new paper: this is the title: Chic. True Press, published by R.E. and M.Flaven, Chicago, the first number of which was issued Saturday last. The Press is published in the ordinary folio style and is a very handsome looking sheet. We trust that it will be the means of accomplishing much good in the growing diocese of Chicago".

There are no further Details, Sources or Locations (not in AN, ULS).

- (2) belongs to Part V: Pennsylvania:Scranton
EXAMINER, THE (?-0 9 1867-?)

This "Cath:lc", weekly newspaper was announced by the Cath. Mirror of Baltimore on p. 5 of Oct. 9 1867:

"The Examiner, no 1, a new weekly paper, published and edited by J.D.Regan, Esq. is a promising sheet of strong Catholic tone. We wish it every success."

No further Details, other Sources or Locations (not AN, ULS).

- (3) for Puerto Rico was no place prepared with the States, remains with this Appendix.

Puerto Rico, since 1898 a Territory of the U.S.

San Juan (1899-1901)

Ponce (1901-1915)

IDEAL CATOLICO, EL (1899-1915)

It was a Spanish, "Catholic:lc" small weekly newspaper, founded in 1899 in San Juan, listed in Rowell in 1901, also in Ayer who had given, in 1900, no city location, only Puerto Rico. The latter gives in 1902 as place Ponce, so to 1915; no entry at all in 1916. Rowell listed already for the year 1899, Miguel Pou as ed. and publisher, Ayer had Pou in 1906 ff., Severance in 1908, too, but Ayer has in 1915 the Asociacion de Catolicos de Ponce as publisher.

Details: Saturdays, 12 pages, 9-13 inches, $2.00, after 1906: 15 pages, 10x17 inches, 1000 circulation in 1901, growing to 2,000 in 1914.

Sources: Rowell (1901), Ayer (1900-1915), Dauchy (1901), Remington (1901), Severance (1908).

Locations: Not in AN, ULS.

- (4) belongs to Part III: Illinois:Chicago

Chicago (1869-71)

- St. Louis (already done in Part IX:Missouri, p.48)

IRISH NEWS, THE (1869-72)

We knew of its existence in St. Louis but found only later that it was founded in Chicago, being probably "Cath.:3", a weekly newspaper in 1869 (Rowell) with the Irish News Co. as editor and publisher up to 1872.

Details: Sat., 8 p., 28x42 inches, $2.00, circulating 250 in 1871/72.

Sources: Rowell's Advertiser's Gazette of 1871, p.172, and 1872.

Locations: Not in AN, ULS.

- (5) belongs to Part V: Pennsylvania, to its "Historical Background" (1822) and alphabetically to the text of Philadelphia.

IRISHMAN AND WEEKLY REVIEW (middle of Ap 1822-?)

It was the earliest "Cath.:3", Irish weekly newspaper in Philadelphia, earlier than the ERIN of S 1822 and the CATH. HERALD, N 1822, then followed by the CATH. ADVOCATE, F 22 1823 (see in Part V, p. 2. and the histories of the three: 38-40, 23-27, and 20/21, also on the Chronological Table, p. 161). In the CATH. HISTORICAL RESEARCHES, Phil. (1911) v.28, p.181 ff., there is a short article, written by the editor of that magazine, Martin I.J.Griffin: "Early Irish Papers of Philadelphia. Griffin had found an announcement of THE IRISHMAN...of 1822, that this paper will appear on the second Saturday in April.

"We are Irishmen...never forget the birthplace of our fathers... We...mention the contents:...a faithful register of speeches... and orators of Ireland...poems, sketches. The Irishman will be printed on fine paper, containing 20 columns. Subscriptions... at Mr.Charles Book store, no.71 S Second St., when (p.182) the paper will be published for the proprietors; or at Messrs. Hickmans and Nazzard's no. 141 Chestnut St.; $4.00."

No other Details, Sources and no Locations (not in AN, ULS).

- (6) belongs to Part IX: Missouri:St.Louis

ST.LOUIS TIMES (My 1877-N 1878)

This "Cath.:1c" daily newspaper had started in 1829 as a non-Cath. weekly democratic paper which had become in Ap 1850 a daily, then a tri-weekly and weekly. Rowell who listed it in 1877 gives its establishment in 1866, but he does not list it in 1878 ff. Rothensteiner, in his HISTORY OF THE ARCHDIOCESE of St. Louis (1673-1928), v.2, p.352 (see Spec. Bibliogr. in Part IX, p.95) states that this paper was for sale in 1877 and was bought by

"B.M.Chambers, a staunch Catholic...for 50,000 Dollars to make out of it a Catholic family daily. He appointed R.H.Sylvester as managing editor and C.S.Fischer as business manager, but the promised support from Catholic circles did not come forward in the manner expected".

"Chambers' money kept the paper afloat until N 1878" says J.Thos. Scharf (History of St.Louis City..., 1822)" when it again was published as a non-Catholic paper, called Times-Journal."

There are no Details and further Sources.

Locations: ULS lists it from 1829-81. DLC owns J1 1877-78 but it could not be found there.

- (7) see our first entry as Annual Record in Part V, p.17. It is not yet certain if SURSUM CORDA was really its subtitle or vice versa. We saw a review of it in 1894/95 with the first version; the RECORD'S description has it the other way.

SURSUM CORDA Philadelphia (?1893-1901 or 1903)
 (?1893-1894; 1895-1901 or 1903)

This "Catholic:lc" annual magazine may have been first a society paper, "Cath.:2", having changed around 1894-95 from bringing "Reports" of the work of the "Confraternity of St. Gabriel" to editing it as a magazine to be read by the sick.

In the RECORDS of the Am.Cath.Hist.Soc., Phil.:13(1902) p.397 is the Confraternity of St. Gabriel described as established in Mr 1890, also that two cultured and noble French ladies in Philadelphia had lady-friends who had started a Protestant magazine for the sick. These French ladies, Mrs. C.B.Pevot and Miss d'Ouville together with Mrs. E.Lloyd and Mrs. Whiteley founded the Catholic SURSUM CORDA; the Archbishop had agreed. No exact time was given.

In 1894 the Rosary College had reviewed the publication as a "modest little number containing mainly reports and some poems." In the Records was said that "the magazine improved very much, the text was written by best writers, worth to be compared with the majority of religious magazines, read by 800 numbers of the Confraternity; critics...called it a gem." Further on p. 403 of the Records: "Mrs. Margret M. Halvey was the editor, Miss Sara T. Smith an assistant. The Pope gave his approbation in 1900".... "In 1901 the entire board was in Europe, some had died (p.410)"; SURSUM CORDA was exchanged with AVE MARIA, Notre Dame, Ind., the CATH.WORLD,N.Y., the CARMELITE REVIEW, OUR LADY OF GOOD COUNSEL, Villanova. The latter, vol.X(1900), p.96 made clear the magazine's aim: "for spiritual aid and consolation of the sick and the converts who suffer from the isolation which the change of life has imposed on them."

When did the magazine finally disappear? In 1901 when the entire board was away? Or in 1903, when the Confraternity was supposed to have ceased, as it was stated "after 13 years"?

Details and Sources only the ones above, no Locations (not in ULS).

- (8) belonged to Part V: Pennsylvania: York is a new place.
York, Pa (1861-62-?)

WREATH, THE (S 1861-62-?)

Rev. Wm. A. Lucey, librarian of Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass. had once seen, some years before 1964, a copy of this "Cath.:lc" monthly juvenile magazine, v.1, no 5 (Ja 1862) in the Am.Cath.Hist.Soc. collection and described it in a letter, when our Pennsylvania volume had already appeared. When I worked through this Collection I did not find it there. Rev. Lucey wrote it was "a magazine for youth, devoted to Catholic Instruction and entertainment, published by James P. McGuigan", therefore "Cath.:lc" ~~a~~ mo? juvenile magazine.

No further Details, Sources, known; Locations (not in ULS) but it may be still in PPACHi.

APPENDIX II:TITLES OF UNLOCATED SERIALS

- (1) ANGELUS MIDSUMMER ANNUAL, reviewed in Ave Maria (Notre Dame, Ind.) Ag 6 1881 as v.5, no place, being excellent; it cannot be one of our other "Angelus" because different in time and type.
- (2) CATHOLIC CHRONICLE, reviewed in Ave Maria (Notre Dame) S 3 1892, that its editor Hon. John Hyde who had made it the brightest Catholic paper, changed to The New World, Chicago, established S 10 1892: true, but, though acc. to time it is possible; for the Cath. Chronicle II, Albany (an edition of Cath. Sun, Syracuse, N.Y., existing in Fall 1892, we have other editors.
- (3) CATHOLIC PROGRESS, reviewed in Ave Maria, (Notre Dame), Je 1891, that it is a monthly, the organ of a Young Men's Ass'n (created 1872 under Fr. Christie, S.J.) with distinguished contributors. We checked thoroughly in vain.
- (4) CATHOLIC YOUTH EXAMINER, mentioned in Exchange with St. Joseph's Echo, a school-paper, Baltimore, in 1886/87, is possible in time only with the Brooklyn: "Catholic Youth" (without "Examiner") 1881-97, but not certain at all.
- (5) DEUTSCHE KATHOLIK, DER (around 1872): we inherited Notes from Friedrich Kenkel (the editor of Kath. Wochenschrift, New World, Amerika); he had kept a newspaper-clipping about it: its v.1, no 5, 1822 (no place), its subtitle: Zeitschrift für Hanovraner and Oldenburger. Kenkel added that he had asked in his paper for information but did not add if he got one.
- (6) HONEST TRUTH: Handlin: Immigrant (see Gen. Bibliogr), p.180, has it established by Irish revolutionaries (1848) from Dublin, "cliques" publishing "organs" in U.S.; its founder was a Doheney, around 1856 (may be not "Catholic" enough for our principles).
- (7) LITTLE BELL OF ST. FRANCIS was mentioned in a copy of Annals of Our Lady of the Angels, of Belle Prairie, Minn., when it was moved to Brainerd (which we, DCU, own) in 1888, p.346.
- (8) ST. LUKE'S MAGAZINE, announced in the Catholic Book News, Ap 1896, that it discontinued its publication, saying: "From a literary point of view at least, it was a success". Therefore we think it was not a parish-paper, but perhaps a Benziger publication (the firm refused to search for their early publications).

NB There were a lot of school-papers in the exchange-lists and elsewhere mentioned, we give some of the titles:

CONCLUSIONS FROM THE CHRONOLOGICAL TABLE

It is understood that the users of the Chronological Table check for exact and full titles, places and dates as well as for language, frequency, type and Catholicity of the publication in the Alphabetical Table. RESULTS:

All these different serials were founded between the years 1831 and 1883, means during the time of 52 years and all lasted to 1966+(only one expired with the year); they are still on the way to become older. The serials are a very different type: 14 are newspapers, 6 school-papers, 2 society-papers; from the 8 magazines, one is "general", 4 "religious", one "music", another one "juvenile" and one also for "homes". Six are "la" diocesan papers, eight are "lc" unofficial, of which 2 are Irish, 2 German, of which one changed to English.

RESULTS:

The chart reveals a very slow development in the beginning, to 1821; 1822 was the important date of the creation of the first diocesan, paper, even lasting 39 years. The number of new serials increased rather regularly, but the Catholic population also grows more in the U.S.; during the Civil War, for three years (see 1861,62,63) there is a decline to be seen, another at the end of the 70's.

If one checks the "shortlived" items, ~~see b~~ on the chart, on the amount of foundations, one discovers, however, the relativity of the general growth (of 6 are 5, of 15 are 10, of 29 are 21 shortlived; this proportion only becomes better towards the end.

If one takes the numbers of c on the chart, the more successful items, e.g. in 1870-79; out of 221 new serials only 103 show a certain success. If one considers the numbers of d and e, e.g. 1880-89: one can see that 84 of the successful creations go on for 20 or more years into the 20th century and 16 of those 84 even up to 1966. This appears also in the last decade: out of 546 new serials 226 disappear between 1890+94; of the leftover 320:216 live at least to 1900 or longer, 35 of them being still published in 1966+.

* It surprises that Wisconsin has no official paper in the 19th Century, especially since one knows how the bishops of Milwaukee, and La Crosse, Henni and Heiss, wanted even a Catholic daily. We found in Ayer, in 1883, p.848, an advertisement of the Cath. Citizen, saying it was an official organ of the archdiocese; it seems it was wishful thinking, it was not printed on the paper and other sources stated that only the Cath. Herald in Milwaukee in 1922 was made an official organ and after merging with the Citizen, The Herald Citizen from 1936 - 1966+ kept that title.

RESULTS:

69 diocesan papers, of which 20 are current in 1966+. Of these only two reached 1966 without any change of titles; both are very early ones: The Catholic Telegraph, Cincinnati, Ohio, of D 22 1831, and The Pittsburgh Catholic of Mr 16 1844 in Pennsylvania. All other "la" - papers began late, or were part of their time not "official", or changed their titles once or more often, finally nevertheless reaching 1966. Of the 48 states there were 16 (besides the two: Idaho and Nevada which did not have any serial) which did not try to have an official Catholic paper in the 19th Century.

A Short History

In general, when there was something written about the daily Catholic newspaper, it was done in a vague sense, no exact statements were made about their number, their titles or places, except for one short account by Arthur Preuss, the editor of the St. Louis Review. In 1899, he wrote that there existed 4 German, 2 Bohemian and 5 French dailies in that year. We found for them the titles and places, even a twelfth daily.

A daily was often and for a long time wanted. In an undated offprint of the Amerika, St. Louis, we read the suggestion:

"...forming a society in each parish,...in each diocese with their parishes, all pledge to subscribe to the nearest Catholic daily, others build a central bureau, forming a sort of school for journalism..., being stockholders", etc; or

The Cath. Herald, Phil. says S 25 1851, p.1: "a few enterprising German attempted in St. Louis a daily (Tageschronik); Catholic in principle, its utility as a secular paper not diminished but rather increased...", or

The Cincinnati Catholic Telegraph says on Ag 22 1957: "Do not the interests of the Church demand a first-class-daily in NY city, fully devoted to the Catholic Faith?...", but

The NY Tablet of 1882 still fears "it will not be sustained". Its publisher Sadlier with much experience, thinks "the time not ripe for it".

Out of a pamphlet, written by L.F. Flick, Phil., 1915, we quote: "...a daily is a different thing from a Catholic weekly...not a religious paper in any sense, not an official organ of the Church ...merely giving the news in a way Catholics are ought to get it or would be of a special interest of them..."

These different opinions earlier and later, already explain the difficulties arising for a prospective publisher. The English reading Catholic felt the necessity less, having a Catholic weekly, taking a secular daily. The foreigners needed a Catholic daily more to be up-to-date with the "home" and American news in their language, also to counteract their own secular dailies, mostly anti-Catholic in their concept; we see our result: 38 foreign against 5 English dailies.

It is also interesting to see that weekly papers of a wide circulation were not raised to dailies by their publishers, e.g. the following:

Cath. Telegraph, Cincinnati
Monitor, San Francisco
Cath. Herald, Philadelphia
Cath. Union, Cleveland

Cath. Standard, Philadelphia
The Record, Louisville, Ky
The Pittsburgh Catholic
Propagateur Catholique, New Orl.

Not even a nation-wide paper like the Boston Pilot did it. And the NY Freeman's Journal whose experienced manager J.A. McMaster would have liked to have it daily dared only to attempt his paper semi-weekly in Jl 1853 under best conditions for the reader, both only for $3.00; after a year (1854) he was forced to give up. Some of the Franco-American dailies remained just attempts.

But we are also able to state that courageous journalists tried it first with tri-weeklies before they changed or did not change them to dailies (see the Pittsburgher Republikaner, or the Columbia of Cleveland). Also two of the Franco-American papers, La Patrie Nouvelle at Cohoes was tri-weekly from D 9 1887-1895, and Le Bien Publique, Worcester, from Ja 10 1879-81.

Chronological List of the 43 Dailies
acc. to their date as dailies

1/ E/ Am.Citizen / NY City / d n 3 / Je 30 1835-Ja 9 1841?

It took 29 years after the first attempt to publish a Catholic paper (1809), or a weekly (1810), until William Denman, the publisher of the Truth Teller in NY City dared this daily Am. Citizen. It was a small paper of 8x12 inches, 4 pages with 3 columns each, sold for $3.00. He kept it alive about 6 years. Its preserved v.1 no 2 gives its aim how the naturalized Irishmen may try to preserve their rights and interests in America. See more Part XIV, 1, p.9.

2/ G/ Wahrheits-Freund / Cincinnati / w d+w n lc/(1837-1907)
N 16 1846-Ja 3 1850

Eleven years later a second daily was started and kept that way for about three years, its weekly from 1837 ff. going on. The publisher of both, H. Lehmann and its editor A. Böckling had to fear riots in 1846 because the Taegliche Wahrheits-Freund, was supposed to fight for their Catholic opinions against those existed anti-Catholic papers around them. See Part XII, pp. 109-114.

3 / G / Tageschronik / St. Louis / d+w n lc / S 1 1851-63

Directly following in time, S 1851, this Tageschronik was a daily, except Sunday, with an added weekly, founded, edited and published by Franz Joseph Saler who had come from Austria and who kept it alive with heavy fights against the liberal German papers for 12 years; then he sold it because the Civil War made it in St. Louis too difficult to go on. See Part IX, p. 66-68.

4 / G / Seebote, Der / Milwaukee / w,d n lc / (D 1851-1924)exc.:
Ja 27 1852-My 1 1898

Besides the weekly of 1851 a daily was founded: Der taegliche Seebote for 46 years. It tried to counteract the influence of the anti-Catholic German papers in Wisconsin. The founder had been Rev. Joseph Salzmann from Austria, Bishop Henny sponsored it, the publisher was Greulich + Co. then P.V. Deuster, also editor. Its aim was to make good citizens out of the newcomers and to bring news from German speaking countries. The daily had soon become secular, esp. as a weekly in 1898 and ff. See Part II, p.79-83.

5 / E / Leader / St. Louis / w,d n lc / (Mr 10 1855-57)
J1 1856-57

The weekly was founded by English speaking Catholics, advised by the bishop of St. Louis, Richard Kenrick. As a daily, a year later, its editor-in-chief was Dr. J.V. Huntington, Esq., but soon he became more involved in politics, fighting on the democratic side during the presidential election year, so that his paper collapsed when the election was over, in 1857. The Daily Leader was the first English Catholic daily. See Part IX, p.50-53.

6 / G / Buffalo Volksfreund / Buffalo / d+w,s-w+w n/ Ag 1 1868-J1 1935
s-w lc-3 (- 1966+

This paper was founded as a daily: Taeglicher Volksfreund, an evening paper and a weekly; it was attacked violently by non-Catholic publications. A German Ass'n was the publisher, its first editor was L.W. Koelbenbeck (see Pittsb. Republikaner), then the known Mathias Rohr, also F.X. Schifferli, Wm. Keilmann and Rev. E.F. Schauer. The aim was to instruct believers and non-believers about the Catholic Faith. In politics the paper was democratic. Coming through the crisis for German papers in 1918, finally the paper was purchased by the chainowner V.P. Peter in 1935 who kept it alive as a s-w or weekly. See Part XIV, 2, p.46-48.

7 / G / Brooklyn Presse / Brooklyn, NY / d n 1c / 1869-D 1872

From its beginning as a daily it was courageously struggling during its three years of life. Rev. Bernard Anton Schwenninger had started it with the aid of Rev. Lorenz Holzer (see Pittsb. Republikaner). It did not find enough support. Rev. Schwenninger tried it again with a New Yorker Presse. See Part XIV, 2 p.20-21.

8 / G / Pittsburgher Republikaner / P. / 3-w,d,w n 1c / (1854-80)
1870-80

With energy the paper began as a tri-weekly in a time of hatred for foreigners, the know-nothing-movement. Rev. Lorenz Holzer of the Redemptorist Fathers had founded and guided it (see him also with the Brookl. Presse) as editor with others: B.W.Koelbenbeck (see Buff. Volksfreund), R.Koenig and G.U.Heilmann. As a daily of 4 pages, 16x23 inches and a circulation from 2,000-3,600 it was rather successful. See Part V, p.96/97.

9 / G / Philadelphia Volksblatt / Ph. / d+w,w n / Ja 8 1872 - Jl 2 1898
3-1c / (-1958)

As a daily it was also called Tagblatt, added to it was a Sunday paper, the first was less Catholic than the Sunday weekly. It was founded by Rev. William Loewecamp, first with the aim to procure funds for an orphanage. One of the editors was Dr. Joseph Bernt, also ed.-in-chief, after him Charles Young. When the daily ceased to be published, its weekly Nord Amerika went on. See Part V, p.66-70.

10 / G / Amerika / St.Louis / d+Sund; w n 3 / 0 17 1872-Jl 9 1924

When German immigration was at its height Die Amerika was started as a daily, a Tagblatt with a special Sunday paper and a weekly. A prominent layman, H.J.Spaunhorst founded it; he also became the director of the German Central Verein. Msgr. Muehlsiepen, the vicar general for foreigners, sponsored the paper. Some of the editors were Anton Hellmich, the later well known Dr. Eduard Preuss and Friedrich P. Kenkel. One of the contributors was the historian J.E.Rothesteiner. The paper had begun with a circulation of 3,000 which run up quickly to 10,000, towards its end to 50-80,000 copies. Since 1921, when all German papers had been in trouble, there was no hope for further success, all attempts were in vain. See Part IX, p.19-23.

11 / G / New Yorker Presse / New York City / d n 3-1c? / Je 23 1873-76 or 77

New York City still had never had a Catholic daily. Rev. Bernard Anton Schwenninger, whose Brooklyn Presse had failed (1872), tried a daily now in New York. His main-paper was almost secular, really "Catholic" was his added Sunday-paper. The German Press Society was the publisher, Anton Eickhoff the editor. Most dailies until now consisted of only 4 pages; his Presse of eight. In 1875 the paper circulated 2,500 copies, but it was only able to live about 4-5 years. See Part XIV, 2, p.28-29.

12 / G / Columbia / Milwaukee, Wis / w,d,w n 1c-3 / (Ja 1 1873-1938)
/ My 4 1874-My 1 1875

Since 1871 priests and laymen, supported by Bishop Henni, prepared the foundation of a Catholic paper, especially wanting a daily. Causiously Rev. Wibbert began with a weekly on Jan 1 1873, with George Schleyer as first editor, also Professor Rev. Johann Gmeiner aiding. Since the existing Seebote (see no.4) had become rather secular, Bishop Henni of Milwaukee and Bishop Heiss of La Crosse recommended the Columbia as a Tagblatt. But it did not endure beyond a year, went on as a weekly. See Part II, p.55-60.

13 / G / Quincy Germania / Quincy, Ill/ d+w n 3 / N 9 1874-1919
(-1923)

Rev. Franz A. Ostrop was the founder of this daily by buying out two anti-Catholic papers in Quincy and he added a still more outspoken "Catholic" weekly to it. Editor was G. D. Hoffmann, an active Catholic defending the Church in his paper. He was also the founder of the Western Catholic Union. Publisher was the German Publishing Co. The $6.00 daily enjoyed a good circulation since there was no other German Catholic daily in Illinois or Iowa. A Protestant daily appeared in Quincy, but failed quickly in 1886, the Germania remained to 1919, its weekly to 1923. See Part III, p. 126-27.

14 / G / Catholic Telegraph / New York City / d n lc / 1875-75

This founding of an English Catholic daily remained only an attempt. An editor's name was supposed to be Peter McCorry. Also in Part XIV, 1, p.34/35 is not more about it.

15 / E / St.Louis Times / St. Louis / d n lc / My 1877 - N 1878

From the historian Rothensteiner one knows that a secular paper of 1929, daily from about 1850 was purchased by a staunch Catholic to make it a Catholic daily. He appointed R.H.Sylvester and C.S.Fischer as editor and manager, but the Catholic circles did not support it sufficiently. The money of the founder, B.M.Chambers "kept the paper afloat until Nov. 1878", then it became a secular once again. See its history with Appendix I in Part XV.

16 / G / Columbia / Cleveland, Ohio / 3-w, d n / (D 1872-78)
3-1c / Ap-Oct. 1878

After five years the already tri-weekly paper still tried the highest possibility of publishing it daily, but only for 4-5 months. Joseph Kilian is supposed to have been once the paper's editor. In Part XII, p.124 there is not much more.

17 / G / Pittsburgher Beobachter / d+w, w n lc / 1880-1907

(-1923)

The daily, a Tagblatt, the second of that kind in Pittsburgh, with a weekly added, was supported by Capuchin Fathers. It gave its income to an orphanage. Between 10 secular dailies in the city the Tagblatt had difficulties to exist. The editors were laymen, in 1881 Ch.J.Jaegle, Heilmann and Ritter. See Part V, p.94-96.

18/ F-A / Abeille,L' / Lowell, Mass / s-w, d n 3 / (1880-84)
1881-82

This semi-weekly French paper for the Franco-Americans changed only for a year to a 4-page, #3.00 daily. See Part X, p.90.

19/ E:I / Irish World / New York City / w, d+w, w n 3 / (187--1966+ 1886-86)

This Irish-Catholic:3, democratic weekly, founded and kept up by the Ford-family, esp. then by Patrick Ford, owner of a publishing house, as an "exponent of socialism" enjoyed a quickly growing circulation. In 1886 he tried to publish it daily, using the occasion that the NY Freeman's Journal's owner, McMaster had died and his paper left in a crisis. But after a short time it seemed a better solution, he published the Freeman besides his own to 1918.

20/ G / Brooklyner Zeitung / Br. / d n lc / 1886-88

Like the first daily: Brooklyner Presse, also this Zeitung was not successful; it was a layman's enterprise. See Part XIV, 2, p.20.

21/ Pol / Czas / Chicago / d n lc / 1887-87

It is supposed to have been a "little" daily, the first Polish Catholic one in Chicago, a center for Poles and Slaves; it was started by Stanislaw Slisz, a known journalist and ended in the same year. See Part III, p.46/47.

22/ Pol / Kuryer Chicagowski / Chic. / d n 3 / 1887-87

Sources believe it existed 3 months in 1887. We do not know before or after the just treated Czas. Also of this paper the attempt was a sincere one, made by a leading journalist, W.Smulski, and by the same Slisz (see with Czas) and Sadowski aiding. See Part III, p.72.

23 / Boh / Jednota I / Chicago / d+w n lc / My 5-Ag 14 1888

It was the first Bohemian (Czech) daily in Chicago, accompanied by a weekly, founded by Rev. F.J.Pribil to quiet down two anti-Catholic Bohemian dailies. The effort was made in vain, it ceased its publications after $3\frac{1}{2}$ months. The Benedictine Fathers of St.Procopius gave up their idea to start another one, they waited to 1894. (See Part III, p.60.)

24 / Pol / Dziennik Chicagowski / Chicago / d n 1a / D 15 1890-1966+

The Resurrectionist Fathers founded this daily in Chicago against the leftist group of Poles there. One of the co-founders was Rev. Vincent Barzynski, who also was interested in other Polish papers. The publisher was the Polish Publishing Co. The paper was guided for many years by Stanislaw Szwajkart, edited e.g. by H. Nagiel (-1906), K. Neuman and K. Wachtel; in 1930 ff. Jozef Przydatek was chief-editor and the paper celebrated its golden jubilee in 1940. In 1966 it was one of the few surviving dailies. See Part III, p 48-49.

25 / F-A / National, Le / Lowell, Mass / w, d n 3 / (1883-95 or 96)
1891-94

This weekly of 1883 became in 1891 the edition of Le Drapeau National (Mr 17 1891) together with 17 other editions. B. Lenthier fought for Grover Cleveland as candidate of the Democratic party in 1892, therefore Le National's change to a daily. It lasted as such to 1894, as a weekly to 1895 or 96. See Part X, p.95-100.

26 / F-A / Etoile, L' / Lowell, Mass / w, d, tri-w, s-w / (1886-1957)
n 1c / 1893-1945

Aime Gauthier had founded it with a "Circle Canadien" found good editors when the weekly became a daily in 1893, had difficulties because Le National was still a daily. L'Etoile created 3 editions for Haverhill, Salem and Springfield, all in Mass. It remained always in a good shape, was only returning to a tri-weekly publishing in 1945, even then only s-w until forced to give up in 1957. See Part X, p.91-95.

27 / F-A / Independant, L' / Fall River, Mass / w, d+w, 1c / (Mr 1885-93)
0 13 1893-1964?

Well known Franco-American publishers, Antoine and Frederic Houde and editors like O. Thibault, directed and edited it in 1893, when the brothers Houde had changed Le Castor to this daily L'Independant. It was the third daily in French. It survived in a dignified way, remained also "basically Catholic" to its last years. See Part X, p.69-71.

28 / F-A / Protecteur Canadien / Fall River, Mass / s-w, w, d / (1892-)
(of 1892) n 3 My 1 1894-Mr 95

Henri Boisseau (also with other F-A papers) founded it, took part in Lenthier's presidential campaign in 1892, sold it to Lenthier and remained local editor in Fall River. When Le National stopped as a daily in Mr 1894, Boisseau acquired ownership and equipment to make his own paper a daily; but he failed financially in Mr 1895. See Part X, p.72/73.

29 / F-A / Echo du Soir, L' / New Bedford Mass / d n lc / 1894-1901
 30 / F-A / same North Adams / d n lc 1894-1908

These two French editions were the second attempt to create an evening paper in Massachusetts. The founder was J.-B. Archambault. No editor is known. See Part X, pp 108, 111.

31 / Boh / Narod / Chicago / d n lb / F 1894-1966+

From the failure of the Bohemian daily Jednota I at Chicago, we have learned that the Benedictine Fathers of St. Procopius took that as a warning and waited to found another. [That is] Now, 6 years later, this Narod, so well prepared and then well kept until being current in 1966+. See Part III, p.76/7

32 / Pol / Dziennik Polski / Chicago / d+w n lc / 1895-98

This daily was edited by Dr. I. Machnikowski. It was not able to live long. See Part III, p.50.

33 / F-A / Tribune, La / Woonsocket, R.I. / d n lc / Ap 6 1895-1934

This French paper was founded by Adelard Lafond (see also Part X, p.69, 73); he was also editor and publisher. F.-O Asselin and J.-L.K. Laflame, etc., were good editors who kept the paper essentially Catholic in the 20th century. See First Series, v.2, its history.

34 / F-A / Tricolore, Le / Lynn, Mass / d n 3 / Spring 1896: 1 no

35 / F-A / Amerique, L' / Biddeford, Me / d n 3 / 1896

36 / F-A / Reveil, Le / Worcester, Mass / w, d n lc / (My 3 1895-S 1896)
 Je-O 1896

Jean-Baptiste Rouillard was founder of these three dailies (and of three other papers) in Massachusetts and Maine, full of new ideas about strengthening the French influence in the U.S., but lacked patience to keep his creations alive. See Part X, p.59, 82, 104, 117, 138, and First Series, v.1 with Maine.

37 / Boh / Czas / Toledo, Ohio / d n ?/ 1896-1903

Its existence seems doubtful to us, probable mixed up with Czas of Chicago. See Part XII, p.155.

38 / Pol / Swoboda / Detroit, Mich / w, d n 3 / (1896-99)
 ?-1898: short time

Dr. Józef Ilowiecki was its publisher and editor, who had made it into "one of the best weeklies"; as a daily it seems to have lasted only a very short time. Ilowiecki finally went back to Poland. See Part VII, p.35/36.

39 / F-A / Opinion Publique, L' / Worcester, Mass / s-w,d n lc / (1893-98)
 Ap 27 1898-
 Je 30 1931

The six brothers Belisle as Belisle & Cie., were the publishers;
Alexandre B. was its manager making the paper circulating in Massachusetts, Connecticut and New Hampshire. Some editors' names are known.
See Part X, p.136/37.

RESULTS:

For the United States, chronologically, we see that since 1835 - except from 1841-45 - there always existed somewhere a Catholic daily what - without this now existing statistical table - no one would have believed. Rather successfully already some German dailies (Tageschronik, Seebote) begin in 1852 and 1853, in 1868 another (Buff. Volksfreund). Between 1870 and 90 there are (besides four going on for a longer period) 11 attempts made, 4 of them English:Cath. Telegraph, Columbia (Cleveland), St. Louis Times, The Irish World.

In 1890 a boom begins to found dailies, especially in Chicago and in the Northeast where Franco-Americans live. Of the first eight are successful, a Polish and a Bohemian which go on even to 1966+, of the French papers only some grow older, while the failures in 1896 are partly the guilt of a somewhat gracy founder. From the papers becoming later dailies in the 20th century are remarkable Al Hoda, the Syrian-Aramaic paper and the last of the Franco-American dailies, Le Messager, which can still be called "Catholic:3", in 1966+

According to language, the first half of the 19th century is completely governed by German foundations, the second by Franco-American ones. Of the 14 German serials (1846-86) only 3 were short-lived, 8 lived into the 20th century, but no German Catholic daily paper exists anymore after 1935, the surviving titles published semi-weekly or weekly, or lost their degrees of Catholicity. Of the 13 French dailies six were very shortlived, 6 lived into the 20th century, one to 1931, one to 1934 or to 1945, only one to 1966+; also with them one can observe that they became more secular with the years. The six English dailies founded in 1835, 1855, 1875, 1877, 1878 and 1920 were not successful at all, except the last, the Cath. Tribune. The Catholic Poles are to admire that they still have their daily paper of 1890, Dziennik Chicagowski in 1966+, so also the Bohemians their Narod and the people being Maronite Catholics, reading Arabic or Aramaic as their languages having their Al Hoda.

ACCORDING TO PLACES:

Chicago: 7 publications: 4 Polish (+ 1 in Detr.), 3 Boh (+ 1 ? Detr.)
New York: 5:3 of 5 Eng. (+ 1 in Dubuque, 1 in St. Louis); 1 Syr., 1 G.

The 14 German serials were located in East to Middle+North West:

St. Louis	3	Brooklyn	2	Quincy	1
Milwaukee	2	Pittsburgh	2	Cleveland	1
Buffalo	2	Philadelphia	1	New York	1

The 13 Franco-American serials

1. in Massachusetts: Lowell 3 N. Bedford 1 Lynn 1
Fall River 2 North Adams 1 Worcester 2
2. in Maine: Biddeford: 1 and Lewiston: 1
3. in Rhode Island: Woonsocket: 1.

ECCLESIASTICAL or PASTORAL MAGAZINES

1830 / E / Protestant's Abridger, N.Y. City / mo mag 1c / 6 months
Rev. Felix Varela from Cuba was founder, editor and publisher, used it for religious controversial articles to answer the attacks of The Protestant in N.Y. See Part XIV, p.135

1864, Ja 23 / G / Romana / Baltimore / mo mag 1c / -N 6 1864
Rev. J.B. Smeddinck worked as pastor in Wisconsin, a German, he wanted to publish a magazine with the subtitle: "für katholische Priester" and found in Baltimore the Kreutzer Bros. who published it with their Katholische Volkszeitung, but without the Archbishop's approval. For his strong criticism his Romana was forbidden. See Part XI, p.50-52.

1864, Ap 1 / E / Ecclesiastical Year, N.Y. City / s-mo mag 1c / -Je 1865

This liturgical-devotional magazine was practically a book, published in parts, started by Rev. Theodore Noethen, published by S. Zickel, explaining the Feasts, Holy Seasons, adding legends and stories; it was recommended by many bishops. See Part XIV, 1, p.55/56.

1866, S / G / Pastoralblatt / St. Louis / mo mag 2 / -D 1925

Thought to be a "professional", half official periodical, it had the approval of several bishops. It was founded by Rev. Michael Heiss and Rev. H. Muelsiepen who was the first editor. It was especially supported by German priests of St. Louis and Milwaukee's St. Francis Seminary who wrote for it, discussing the practice of pastoral care, different in America, reprinted documents and pastoral letters. In 1874 a branch of Herder was started in St. Louis, took over the publishing under the special care of Joseph Gummersbach. See Part X, p.53-57.

1872, Ja 31 / E / Woodstock Letters / Woodstock, Md / 3-yearly / -1966?
or qu lb

Founded, edited and published by the Jesuit Fathers seems to be more a history of the Order in America and its achievements. It was destined for the members of the Order. See Part XI, p.62/63.

?1873 / E / Baltimore Ecclesiastical Review / Balt. / q mag 2 / ?-?

This planned, probably not realized professional magazine for priests had given its aims in a PROSPECTUS that the need to have an English pastoral really exists, that Rev. P.L. Chapelle (later bishop of New Orleans) had written earlier already to the archbishop of Baltimore. The magazine was supposed to appear in 1873 with 200 pages for each quarterly. We did not find a further trace of it. See Part XI, p.11/12.

1873 / E+G / Sankt Joseph's Blatt / Cincinnati / ?mag 2 / -?

Its appearance was announced as a "magazine for preachers" in Enzlberger's Lit. Handweiser of 1873, though no founder, editor or publisher was added. See Part XII, p.103.

1882, N / E / The Pastor / N.Y. City / no mag 2 / -S 1889

Rev. W. John Wiseman, pastor in Cranford, N.J., had proposed the idea to the Bisop of Newark, received his approval and had published it by Pustet + Co. in New York. A PROSPECTUS declared to discuss and comment questions of theology, liturgy, exp. pastoral problems for priests. He alone was the editor. Because the Am.Eccl. Review was started in Ja 1889, he ceased to publish his magazine finally in S 1889. See Part XIV, 1, p.131/32.

1886, My / G, Latin, E / Nuntius Aulae / Carthagena, O / q mag 1b / -1961?

We are not enough informed about this "clerical" magazine of the Society of the Precious Blood Fathers; it contained treatises on history, philosophy, Dogma, Liturgy and practical pastoral theology. It was only written for the Fathers of the Society, interrupted prior to Ja 1890 and reappeared in 1898, discontinued again, republished from 1917 -1961? See Part XII, p.78/79.

1889, Ja / E / Am. Ecclesiastical Review / Phil/N.Y./ Wash/ mo mag 2/ -1966+

This ecclesiastical and professional magazine for the clergy with approbation and imprimatur was founded and edited first by Rev. Herman J. Heuser professor of St. Charles Borromeo, Overbrook, Pa.; Pustet of New York was the first publisher. Finally the Board of Trustees of the Cath. University of America, Washington, DC took over and mostly professors of the University were the contributors to 1966+. See Part V, p.13-16.

?1890 / E / Ecclesiastical Review / Trenton, N.J. / ?mag? / -?1895

At least from 1891-93 it must have existed but we did not find any details. See First Series, New Jersey:Trenton.

RESULTS:

The "one man" creations seemed not to be able to get enough priest-readers to support such an enterprise, as one sees with the items of 1830, 1864 (Romana), 1873(Balt), 1882 (NY); the publications by Orders: 1872 and 1886 destined them for their own members, the Eccl. Year of 1873 was more a book, and the St. Joseph's Blatt too specialized; of the magazine of 1890 we do not know enough. Therefore remains only the German Pastoralblatt from 1866-1925 fulfilling the aims, and the English American Ecclesiastical Review from 1884, current in 1966+.

THE INDIANS' SERIALS

After the first almanac in the Indians' language in 1834 there was a long pause, but we think there existed more old mission-publications as the "news-letter" between 1851 + 59, we only did not have the time and means to search enough for them. Only three of the following items are written in the language of those Indians, the others in English, one had even a German edition interested in the aid for Indian children.

JUVENILE SERIALS

To the first eleven serials we add an extract of their history to show how necessary such publications were needed to counteract the bad influence of the many non-Catholic periodicals for children, and how difficult it was to keep a publication attractive with illustrations for children but inexpensive for their parents. Of these eleven "firsts" one lived only one year, one: 2, one:3, one:5 years, only the last was able to go on 42 years. We also see how the contents changed in the time between 1830 and 1867 from a strictly educating purpose with none or few illustrations to the more entertaining aim with many pictures, then already psychologically understanding that acc. to the childrens' patience each item has to be short. There are few foreign attempts; the first was French in 1843 (another in 1890); in 1872 appeared the first German one, and later a second, only in 1889 the Poles began the first of their five juvenile periodicals.

1. Mr 31 / Expostulator or Boston / w "n" lc / -Mr 23 1831
1830 Young Cath.'s Guide /

It was founded by Bishop B.J. Fenwick; he and his clergy edited it, the Jesuit-paper published it. Its aim was "to explain to the children in simple language the doctrines of the Church", but in a very serious way; a story was added. One volume with an Index, to be bound as a book, was completed, not more. See Part X, 41/42.

2. Mr / Children's Cath. Magazine / N.Y. / mo mag lc - 1840
1838 -Young Catholic's Mag. F 1841-N 1841

Cornelius H. Gottsberger of Brooklyn founded it mainly on his own expense. After complaints, the bishop ordered a priest, Rev. Felix Varela, to supervise its contents. It was strongly recommended by Catholic papers, seeing its importance, because already many non-Catholic serials circulated, some up to 30,000 copies. Also this new one had soon 13,000 subscribers. Nevertheless the publication had to be interrupted and changed also for older children. See Part XIV, 1 p.45-47.

3. My 6/ Young Catholic's Friend / Boston / w mag lc / -D 26
1840

Philipp A. Kirk was named with this magazine, as founder?, publisher?, sponsor? and H.B.C. Greene as editor. Instructive essays of the Catholic religion aimed more to teach than to entertain. See Part X, p.60/61.

4. 1843/ Young Catholic's Cabinet / N.Y. / mo mag lc / -1844

No publisher or editor is known, no details either. We think it possible that Cornelius H. Gottsberger, after the failure of his magazine (see no 2), may have tried to reestablish it with a lightly changed title. See Part XIX, 1, p.170/71.

5. My 23 / F / Ami de la Jeuness / Detroit, Mich / w mag lc / -J1 18
1843/ F-A /

It is the first foreign juvenile serial, see 1890 another French one for the Franco-Americans, both shortlived. A group of laymen, full of zeal for their patriotic interests, began it; Ferdinand Gagnon, the well known journalist had to do with it, too. No exact details known. See Part VII, p.12.

6. Je 6/ Boys' and Girls' Weekly Cath. Magazine/Phil/w mag lc/-D 1856
1846/ - Cath. Weekly Instructor (Ja 1850-)

Publisher and editor was the bookseller W.J. Cunningham, who sold it to Peter McKenna who gave the second title. It carried entertaining and educational matter, it was recommended by Cath. papers as "useful" and "improving"; in 1850 the bishop gave his approval, too. See Part V, p.18/19.

7. S Cath. Youth's Magazine / Balt / mo mag lc / - Ag 1861
1857/

Martin J. Kerney who was with the staff of the Cath. Mirror, founded and managed this magazine, also partly edited it. John Murphy was the publisher. It addressed children of "graver years" as "antidote to seductive publications"; it was illustrated, entertaining with educating value, called a "little gem". Kerney died, nobody continued it. See Part XI, p.21/22.

8. S 1861 / Wreath, The / York, Pa / ?, mag lc / -1862-?

We have heard about it only after Penna. was finished. Rev. Wm. Lucey saw v.1, no 5 (Ja 1862) and wrote us about it, being "devoted to Catholic instruction and entertainment for youth", published by James P. McGuigan. See Appendix I of Part 15.

9. Jl 1863 / Young Cath.'s Friend / Chicago / w,mo mag lc / -1865

Its publisher, J.J. Kearny, supplied good and sound reading for children at 2 cents a number, each Saturday. On Ag 1864 it was a monthly, flourished despite the troublesome times and reached v.5, Jl-D (s-ann) 1865, bringing stories, sketches and poems, also some music. See Part III, p.106/7.

10. Ja 1866 / Spare Hours / Boston / mo mag lc / -?1909

It was started by Patrick Donahoe of the Pilot and was stopped after one year because it was not supported enough. He wanted to give a supplement with good literature to the teaching of schools; it was illustrated, 100 pictures during one year. See Part X, p.57/58.

11. F 1867 / Guardian Angel / Phil. / mo, w mag lc / -?1909

Three laymen founded and published it, one was M.I.J. Griffin, known as co-founder and contributor to several Catholic papers, later as founder of the I.C.B.U.Journal, Phil., then called Griffin's Journal (1873). The juvenile magazine was approved by the archbishop of Phil., of Cinc. and six other bishops, was "devoted to instructing and entertaining", had excellent contributors who adjusted their writing to the short patience of children. See Part V, p.44-46.

NB: If more details are wanted about the numbers 12-60, check in their States and cities the history of each serial.

RESULTS: Also among these 49 periodicals are many shortlived ones; 25 did not reach their fourth year, the percentage is only better in the last group founded 1896-99. The situation looks still worse if one checks the cities: in the entire South only New Orleans had one periodical founded which did not live one year; the next city northward is Baltimore with one attempt of four years; all other cities are in the North, more are in the East, less in the West. Only 17 are still published in the 20th century, of them only 3 current in 1966. I myself did not expect such a sad result, which only could so clearly appear when I made this list.

LITERARY or LEARNED MAGAZINES

1841, Ap E Cath. Expositor / New York / mo mag 1c / -1844

It was launched and edited by two priests who were scholars and gifted writers, Rev. Felix Varela and Rev. Charles C. Pise who wanted to build up in the readers a true Catholic Faith and the interest and taste for literature and the sciences. They won best contributors for articles who improved that type of magazines in America. See Part XIV, l. p.21/2.

1842, Ja E Religious Cabinet / Baltimore / mo mag 1a / -1849

It, too, was founded by two priests, rectors of parishes, Rev. James Dolan, manager, and Rev. Charles I. White, editor. With the archbishop's approval - exceptional for a magazine - it became a "la" organ of the archdiocese, because a Cath. newspaper did not yet exist in Baltimore, but followed in 1850 the magazine as Catholic Mirror. Enough learned contributors were found. See for its four different titles, etc. Part XI, p.46-50.

1843 E Cath.Cabinet / St.Louis / mo mag 1a / -1845

Bishop P.R.Kenrick founded it, gave it a long subtitle: "Chronicle of religious Intelligence, containing Original and Selected Articles", wanted with it "to promote the interests of the Cath. Religion in the diocese". No editor's name is known. See Part XI, p.24-26.

1844, Ja / E / Brownson's Quarterly Review / q mag 1c / -1875
Boston, then New York

Orestes A. Brownson when he founded in Ja his Review still struggled with the idea to become a Catholic; he converted in Oct 1844. The Review mirrors his growing slowly in his new faith, when he writes about theology, philosophy and also about literature and politics. He did not need many contributors. Sometimes he agrees with bishops, sometimes the bishops do or do not agree with him. In his "Last Series (1873) he protests against liberalism and remains himself a "stormy" individualist. See Part X, 26-31 + Part XIV, l, p.15/16.

1894 / E / Chic. or St.Louis Review / mo, bi-mo mag 1c / -1935 also:Cath. or Fortnight Rev./

Arthur Preuss, son of an editor, founded this Review, managed and edited it for almost 40 years. His father came from Germany, he was born in St.Louis, he himself felt as a "representative of the German-American intellectual life". He wrote his Review in English, but addressed more to the Germans in America. He wanted to contribute to the growing of an American culture by offering the achievements of the European-German culture. It was said that in his last years the younger German-Americans did not understand him anymore, and probably [also] not anymore this type of magazine, which had become old fashioned with the opinions mostly of one man about everything. See Part IX, p.58-61.

SCHOOL-PAPERS: THE FIRST 13

Of the 91 school-papers, being started in the 19th century, we want to bring the group of the 13 first ones, still hand-written in the beginning by girls or boys in Academies and Colleges. It is interesting to see that 5 of the 13 schools were directed by Jesuit Fathers.

1. ?Fall 1823 E College Minerva Georgetown,DC irr lc ?Few nos -1924
This first Cath. School-paper in the U.S. was handwritten by boys of the Georgetown College in care of Jesuit Frs. See Part XI, p.68.

2. betw. 1827+32/E "Loretto" sch-paper, Loretto, Ky ? lc shortlived
It existed handwritten only for some months, a literary paper, done by girls of the Loretto Academy, the title not known anymore; Sisters of Loretto guided it. See Part XII, p.24.

3. prior to 1834 / E/Eurodelphian Banner, Bardstown,Ky / ? lc ?-1848
Boys of St. Joseph's College produced it by hand; the college was in care of Diocesan priests. See Part XII, p.24.

4. In the 50'/E Utopia ...,Bardstown,Ky / ?mo lc -? 1865
Boys-students of St. Thomas Seminary wrote it, copied by hand, the title was 5 times changed, interrupted during the Civil War, reappeared afterward. See Part XII, p. 14/15.

5. ?1857/E/ Goose Quill New York ?lc -1875

Fordham College students tried it perhaps somewhat earlier than 1857: it was handwritten, for a short time in 1857, Jesuit Frs. were in care of the college. See Part XIV, 1, p.66/67.

6. ?-1860/E/Notre Dame Literary Gazette, Notre Dame, Ind / mo,lc-1863

Students of Holy Cross College of Notre Dame edited it, copied it by hand. Probably it was followed already after a year by The Progress. See Part IV, p.27.

7. 1860 /E/ Rosa Mystica Notre Dame, Ind / irr,q,mo lc - 1960

Written by hand of girl-students of St.Mary's College, title changed to St.Mary's Chimes and from S 1892 onward was printed. See Part IV, p.27/28.

8. Ap 3 1861/E/College Album/Springhill,Al/ mo,an lc/ -1861;
Springhillian 1891...-1966+

The students of the Jesuit College at Springhill, near Mobile, Al. had begun a handwritten school-paper which had to be abandoned when the Civil War broke out; but it only was taken up again in 1891/92 and in 1909/10; as Springhillian, which is current in 1966+. See First Series: Alabama:Springhill.

9. betw. 1863+68/?Latin/"St.Ignatius Coll."/ San Francisco/?,lc-1875

No title is remembered of this paper, of a Jesuit College again which was established in 1859; a literary society founded the paper. One knows that the earthquake in San Francisco was therein described in "Latin". See Part VIII, p.48/49.

10. O, 1865/E/ The Album / New York / Westchester / ?, lc / -1881

It was in the beginning handwritten by boys of the Academy Manhattan, then Manhattan College, in charge of Christian Brothers. It contained essays, poems, tales under pen-names. Later it was printed in the Protectory in Westchester where in 1869 as De La Salle Monthly it had become more a magazine (-74). See Part XIV, 1, p.2/3.

11. 1867/E/MidDay Sun/ St.Mary's-of-the-Woods,Ind/q/lc/ -1904

Still handwritten to its end in 1904 by girls of that College, read at quarterly assemblies, see also Aurora. See Part IV, p.30.

12. D 1869 /E/ The Owl / Santa Clara,Cal / mo lc / -0 1875

Handwritten? Students of that Jesuit College produced it; it was founded with the initiative of Father E.J. Young who in 1872 was transferred to Georgetown College, DC, suggesting there a new student-paper in 1872. See Part VIII, p.54/55.

13. 1870/E/ Aurora / St. Mary's-of-the-Woods,Ind/ mo,q lc -1896

Handwritten first, 1900 ff. printed, edited by girls of that College with Sisters of the Divine Providence. Somewhat later it was edited as a literary paper by journalism students. See Part IV, p.30.

SOME EXEMPLIFICATIONS FOR CROSSCHECKING
throughout the 19th century material

The purpose of the following examples of a cumulative survey of the U.S. material according to single years (or decades) between 1809 and 1899 may show not only how many Cath. serials existed in that special year but also may enable the user of the tables to recheck the Chronological Table for the necessary titles and places, with the Alphabetical Table for more details. If more knowledge is wanted, esp. publishers, editors, contributors, even the history of each item (as far as we were able to discover) with the "Part" (of our work) under the state the place can be found and also the title of the special serial.

Doing the following examples, we copied the titles only for the years 1833, 1841 and 1850, but not for the years 1860, 70, 80, 90, and 1899, because they are too numerous and a searcher with a particular item for a special purpose in mind (e.g. juvenile magazines) does not need them all.

/// 1833 ///

There existed 14 serials: first the two of 1822 and 25: the U.S. Cath. Miscellany of Charleston, SC and the Truth Teller of NY, both somewhat Irish, the one an "la" diocesan-paper, as such also serving the states surrounding South Carolina and the other in New York with most gifted priests as contributors. Two more Irish papers in Philadelphia and Charleston are in 1833 near the end of their existence, but two important Catholic newspapers had been founded, the Catholic Press in Hartford, Conn., and the Jesuit in Boston. Seven serials were started in 1833, the Catholic Telegraph in Cincinnati, the Shepherd of the Valley in St. Louis, the Catholic Herald in Phil., also in Washington, DC the very shortlived Catholic Journal and in New York the Catholic Register. They all had to struggle to defend their faith, and to instruct the readers, since there were not enough priests. They also needed to answer the attacks of anti-Catholic papers in those stormy times. The two first Church-Directories of 1819 and 1822 were continued in 1833 with one in New York and one in Philadelphia.

/// 1841 ///*

*The Records of the Am.Cath.Hist.Soc., Phil.:38(1927), p.193 ff.: "A Statistical Survey of the Church in the U.S. in 1841", has p.204: The Catholic Weeklies; we checked them with ours.

In 1841 there existed 13 serial publications: still the two of 1822 and 1825, the Cath. Telegraph of 1831, the Shepherd of the Valley and the Herald of 1833; the American Citizen of New York was in its last year, the Portuguese paper Noticioso de Ambos Mundos, N.Y. was in its seventh year, the Catholic Advocate of Bardstown, Ky had moved to Louisville. In Boston the Pilot had continued the Jesuit in 1835/36; the first German newspaper, Der Wahrheits-Freund in Cincinnati was 4 years old, the N.Y. Freeman's Journal 2 years. In 1841 were founded only a magazine in New York: Catholic Expositor and a paper in Boston: New England Reporter.

/// 1850 ///

There existed 41 serial publications, 28 serials formerly founded were still alive. They had been joined by the Propogateur Catholique in New Orleans, the Irish Volunteer in New York, by a learned magazine, Brownson's Quarterly Review in Boston, now in its seventh year, by the Pittsburgh Catholic, also 7 years old; St. Michel at St. Michel, La and a second German paper: Katholische Kirchenzeitung in Baltimore in the fifth year, finally a juvenile magazine: Boys' and Girls' Weekly, existing since 1846. Newly founded were eight: the Spanish La Cronica in N.Y., True Witness in Shreveport, La, a German paper Königin des Westens in Cincinnati, the Irish-American in N.Y., the Catholic Mirror in Baltimore, a French paper Le Citoyen in Detroit, the American Celt in Boston and a Katholisches Sonntagsblatt, German, in St. Louis.

In the year //1860// there existed 62 publications of which eleven were newly founded: 6 of them shortlived; 4 were newspapers (an Irish at San Francisco, a French at Toledo, Ohio, a German at Baltimore and another at Racine, Wis); one was a school-paper in Notre Dame, Ind.

In the year //1870// there existed 114 publications including 17 newly established ones.

In the year //1880// there existed 203 publications including 29 newly founded ones. We saw a statistic in the Census Report of 1880 with the number of religious newspapers:

Catholic	70	Presbyterian	42
Baptist	63	Lutheran	22
Methodist	75	Episcopalian	33

In the year //1890// there existed 342 publications including 40 newly founded ones.

RESULTS:

In 89 years the heritage left to the 20th century had grown to 454 serials of all kinds. The oldest of them was started in 1831. Of these 454 ceased publication; 18 already in 1899+ 1900, 219 up to 1920, 66 to 1940, 69 to 1965; the left over 82 are current in 1966+. See for them the list of "Current Serials" earlier in this volume.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

We do not think it necessary to add to this PART 15 again a Bibliography of all sources we used or at least checked shortly in libraries. Each of our 14 "Parts" has a General Bibliography, being valuable for a work like ours. For each State we worked out a Special Bibliography, important just for that state: local history of the state, the cities, churches, colleges etc. Since we were not able to check libraries in all states we found it important to see City-Directories (DLC has many but not complete) and Advertisement Guide Books for newspapers and periodicals having general and also specialized lists with more or less details. What is especially important on both sources is, they are "Contemporary" sources, while history-books, especially local ones, are not always reliable.

We add here as example what e.g. the often quoted Ayer brings of Catholic papers in 1877 with the number of circulating copies:
